PRAYING FOR VOCATIONS

Our Diocese has embarked on a special Vocation Initiative for the coming year, encouraging all parishes to pray for an increase in vocations.
In a special way, we are asked to keep our seminarians in our prayers as they continue their journey:

Huy Le
Mischa Taillon
John Paul Wasan
Matthew Witzanev

May we continue to pray for them, asking the Lord to guide and strengthen them in their vocation, and inspire others to generously answer His call to serve the Church.

OCTOBER–NOVEMBER 23

Please maintain any flowers, solar lights, and anything else placed in the cemetery at a grave site. Please try to place objects in a way as not to impede the cemetery grass mowing and maintenance for the volunteers looking after the cemetery.It can add a lot of time and effort on the volunteer's part if items left at grave sites are left to deteriorate.Thank you, God Bless!

33rd Sunday: Faithful Stewards

"Your talent is God's gift to you. What you do with it is your gift back to God."
Leo Buscaglia

The truth about each of us is that we were willed and created by God; there is a mission and purpose for which God called us into existence; and we shall surely render honest account to God on how we lived and utilised all the benefits and opportunities he gifted us. (cf. Matthew 25:14-30)

We may not have received equally from God, but we all received something. Whatever we receive from God is naturally good and should be fruitful. But we are the ones to make manifest their fruitfulness by putting them to use just like the first and the second servants in the parable of today - "you entrusted me with five talents; here are five more that I have made… you entrusted me with two talents; here are two more that I have made." (Matthew 25:20)

One may not be productive, not because s/he was created that way, but because s/he failed to recognise the essential fruitful nature of the gifts bestowed on him/her. This was the case with the third servant - "I had heard you were a hard man, reaping where you have not sown… and I went off and hid your talent in the ground." (Matthew 25:24)

Worthy of note, is the fact that the servants all receive their talents at the same time. At the end of time, what God expects of us will be commensurate with the gifts we have been given. The last servant was not condemned for failing to reach the 100% goal; he was condemned because he did nothing with what he was given.

The two servants who did well are rewarded in different amounts (5 & 10 talents respectively). But they were both praised. The implication of the parable is that we are to use whatever talents we have been given to the best of our ability for God's glory, and when we have done that, we are on an equal playing field with other faithful, trustworthy servants of God.

The servant with one talent had two major problems - firstly, he had the entitlement mentality. He felt that God owed him more talents. Secondly, the third servant refused to take responsibility for his woes. He blamed everybody but himself. The way of excuses may appear to be the easiest way, but it is an irresponsible and a misleading way.

“Talent without effort is wasted talent. And while effort is the one thing you can control in your life, applying that effort intelligently is next on the list.” Mark Cuban We are all responsible for our choices and however we use our gifts. Irresponsible people blame others except themselves for everything. They blame their family, colleagues, the state, and practically everything for their failure. Blame games will never exoner ate us.

John Wooden said, “Talent is God given; be humble. Fame is man-given; be grateful. Conceit is self-given; be careful”

Prayer:

Thank you, Jesus

Thank you, Lord
